

Country: Syria

Committee: UNDP

Topic: Addressing the challenges posed by crises and conflicts, prioritizing collaboration and innovative approaches, and ultimately creating a more stable and just world.

The formal name of our country is the Syria Arab Middle Eastern Republic. Our country neighbours are Turkey, Iraq, Jordan, Israel and Lebanon. Although the population of our country has started to decline since 2015 and it is the country that sends the most refugees in the world, there are still an estimated 23.227.014 people in our country %70 of these people in our country are Arabs. Our country has been governed by many states throughout history. Our country's economy consists of our rich oil fields and agriculture. Due to the climate in our country, many agricultural products are grown. These species are poplar, willow and oak trees. Syria has been one of the most diverse and colourful countries in the history in terms of its religious past, its people, and the vast ancient Assyrian culture that later bestowed upon the next generations. Even though some people do not think that this is the case, it is so. Because Syria was not in the situation it was in before. Eggplant and red meat are generally used in cooking in Syria. Some of the famous dishes in Syria are yoghurt soup, toothpick kebab and cheese tray pastry. This diversity was also present at the time when history began to write itself. However, this diversity has brought along many destructions along with migrations because as people migrated and increased, culture dispersed.

Innovation has always been better for a more stable and fairer world. However, in our country, innovations are not welcomed by politicians and society. Such an example is that in most countries, gender equality does not currently exist in our country. Due to the fact that Syria has been a target for resources and labour power by certain governments, it faced an extreme amount at calamitous events. When you combine those events with minimal support and emphasis on education, the result is a swift change in literally everything.

This problem in our country can be confronted with the support of our powerful neighbours, people who can oppose politicians who do not have innovative ideas, and politicians who oppose them.