

Country:Norway

Comitee:DISEC (Russia-Ukraine war and the use of weapons in international law

Topic:Russia-Ukraine war

As a nation with a strong commitment to peace, stability, and international cooperation, Norway recognizes the urgency of addressing the threats posed by weapons of mass destruction, including nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons. Norway believes that the effective disarmament and non-proliferation of WMDs are not only essential for global security but also for building trust and fostering peaceful coexistence among nations.

Norway has been a staunch supporter of various international disarmament treaties, including the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT), the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC), and the Biological Weapons Convention (BWC)..

Additionally, Norway takes pride in hosting the Nobel Peace Prize, which recognizes efforts towards the promotion of peace and disarmament As a nation with a strong commitment to peace, stability, and international cooperation, Norway recognizes the urgency of addressing the threats posed by weapons of mass destruction, including nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons. Norway believes that the effective disarmament and non-proliferation of WMDs are not only essential for global security but also for building trust and fostering peaceful coexistence among nations.

In Model United Nations (MUN), the Disarmament and International Security Committee (DISEC) focuses on promoting peace and security by addressing global conflicts and the proliferation of weapons. Norway plays a vital role in DISEC by advocating for arms control, non-proliferation, and supporting peaceful resolutions to conflicts. Norway also emphasizes diplomacy and cooperation among nations to ensure a safer, more stable world for future generations.

